DISPATCH FROM GENERAL LEE—NO MORE FIGHTING, ETC.

RICHMOND, Dec. 16.

The following dispatch from Gen. Lee was received to-day:

Yesterday [illegible] the enemy is caring for his wounded and burying his dead. He retains his position under cover of his guns on the north bank of the Rappahannock.

(Signed,) R. E. LEE.

The above is [illegible] the guns, and [illegible] river.

[FOURTH DISPATCH.]

FROM FREDERICKSBURG.

RICHMOND, Dec. 16.

[illegible] the enemy [illegible] Fredericksburg [illegible] Confederate [illegible] will not exceed 1800. On the left when fighting was severe a South Carolina Brigade suffered heavily. Gen. Gregg was killed by a minnie ball which [illegible] in the side and penetrated the spine. [illegible] death he said to one of his aids, "tell Governor Pickens if I am to die this time I yield my life cheerfully fighting for the independence of South Carolina."

Washington Artillery, of New Orleans, repulsed several desperate charges of the enemy. Our troops displayed great zeal and courage. There were not very many stragglers. The only General officer known to be killed on Abolition side is Gen. Jackson. Number of prisoners taken, said to be 1500. One of Burnside's staff officers says that the reason the fight was not renewed on Sunday was serious discontent among Yankee officers. It said that not more than one tenth of Fredericksburg is seriously injured.

Gov. Letcher and a number of citizens left town yesterday to render assistance and relief to the wounded.

News of Burnside's change of base received this morning is construed in official circles as evidence of demoralization in Yankee army. Others regard the movement as a ruse of the Abolitionists, which was confidently expected in event of a general engagement.

[FIFTH DISPATCH.]

RICHMOND, Dec. 16.

Nothing additional of authentic character has been received from Fredericksburg to-day, except that Confederate loss in killed and wounded is less than 1,800. Correspondents represent that the loss of the enemy was fully [illegible]. Burnside's army is reported to be mutinous, having positively refused, it is said, to make a charge on the Confederate batteries.

AFTER THE GUNBOATS.

PORT HUDSON, Dec. 14.

On the afternoon of the 12th the Yankee gunboat Essex and a wooden boat, name unknown, anchored out of [illegible] Capt. McGehee's Co. of cavalry [illegible] a negro to hail the Essex. Hail was promptly answered and [illegible] when the cavalry fired killing and wounding two.

That night Capt. Boone with his company of light artillery crossed the river and took position opposite the wooden boat and at dawn opened a brisk fire on

FROM GOLDSBORO'—[illegible]

GOLDSBORO', Dec. 16.

The firing this morning was between [illegible] battery and Yankee artillery at White Hall, 18 miles below Goldsboro', on Neuse river. The firing was across the river. All quiet at present. The authorities have not ordered any one to leave here.

Executive Department North Carolina,
Adjutant General's Office,
Raleigh, Nov. 27, 1862.

General Order,
No. 30.

I. THE PRESIDENT OF THE CONFEDERATE States having deemed it necessary to call into service, under the provisions of the recent act of Congress, all persons liable to military duty between the ages of 18 and 40 years, the Commanding Officers of the Militia will call out their respective Regiments and enroll and conduct to the Camp of Instruction all persons liable to military duty under this law, at such times as Colonel Peter Mallett, Chief Enrolling Officer for the State, may direct.

II. The enemy are pressing upon us in great numbers, with the intention to overwhelm us by a winter campaign. Our danger now comes from the South side of James river, and as the scene of war approaches nearer to our borders, it becomes North Carolinians to rush even more promptly than before to the defence of our own territory. If we can drive him back once more, as we have so often done, there is every reason to hope that his strength will be effectually broken. The various officers entrusted with the execution of this order are again commanded to use all diligence in arresting deserters and absentees without leave from the army, and all good citizens who prize liberty and independence, are earnestly invoked to assist in hurrying off all such to their regiments. The brave and patriotic soldier will not over-stay his furlough unless providentially hindered. The coward alone will shirk (at home) whilst his braver comrades endure the heat and burthen of the fight.

By order of Governor VANCE:

I. All commissioned officers and enlisted men who are now absent from their commands from any other causes than actual disability, or duty under orders from the Sec'y of War, or from their department commanders will return to their commands without delay.

II. Commissioned officers failing to comply with the provisions of the foregoing paragraph within a reasonable length of time, in no case to exceed twenty days after the publication of this order, shall be dropped from the rolls of the army in disgrace, and their names will be furnished to the commandant of conscripts for enlistment in the ranks.

III.
